IOWA OFFICERS AGAIN FLAYED IN BAKER TALK

Fletcher Is Unworthy Of Public Office, Speaker Says

SALEM, IOWA—Hello folks—do you say Hello to me?—I understand that one of the County agents somewhere around you is boasting you and your city and has succeeded in preventing YOU, the farmers and laborers, who want the truth, from hearing me speak in your city—now I'll tell you what some of you do—arrange the date—make it in the evening—after Sept. 7th—have the speaking stand all ready—have three or four empty chairs on the stand—I'll come down—give a talk—I'll invite Mr. Agent and all his friends and relatives—even his mother-in-law, on the stand—and we will argue it out. LIKE GENTLEMEN—I'll give him a chance first to tell you why he does not want you to hear me—then I'll tell you the reason why—it is because he knows I have such truth that I am preaching that he and all of his kind could never break them down—then too—he may lose his job if my plan goes into effect—LET'S GO—when shall I come—get busy you Farmers—let's have a rousing time—don't let one or two citizens tell YOU what you SHALL HEAR OR SEE—they did that 1000 years ago, but it don't go today.

HOLMES—it is reported that he works as a solicitor for our competitor—he was down in Lake Township trying to get out—he got a cold shoulder—one woman wrote me what she told him—it would not look good in print—Holmes started running me down to the lowest and all of a sudden he got out—go to it Holmes—when you get tired of being shunned when you go to the farm doors, then try the Maquoketa paper—it's about as bad as the one you represent, when it comes to printing truths. HOLMES—take my advice—don't lie and you will get further.

OUR LIGHT PLANT—one of our advertisers carries an advertisement concerning our city light plant—that is his privilege—it does not speak for us, however—everyone is entitled to their own views—but—if they will take our plant out of politics—run it with business heads—we can make a lot of money with it—but we CAN'T get ahead with it—if we keep spending the profits for everything that comes along—whenever we look down there I see some dredge or other work being done by some contractor who GETS HIS—quit spending for one year and take the profits to apply on reducing some of the obligations—that dock out into the river COULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED—but whenever there is money to spend running into the thousands there are generally too many hands being held out—it will make a lot of money, but it seems hard to SAVE.

I WONDER—the Radio commission gave as one of their reasons to put K-TNT off the air—that eastern Iowa was served by Shenandoah Iowa stations—by this time the air with 1000 watts—that is one reason no doubt they fought K-TNT—they may want to get you going and coming—the farmers surely are awakening to the Register and no doubt many lost subscriptions are counted in eastern Iowa—can Adler of Muscatine and Davenport papers find the losses?—The farmers "aint" going to stand for it—that's all some of you fellows have done—kicked them around for the past years and now your football is filled with kicks of its own.

GANGSTERS—many are leaving the "rackets" and hoping they have left in time—for many it is probably too late and the enemies they made will "get" them—POLITICIANS—who have foisted the farmers too long—could profit by getting out—BEFORE they are put out.

HUNT MURDERER OF PRETTY GIRL

Woman Is Attacked, Then Killed; Thrown Along Highway

JOLIET, Ill.—(INS)—Belief that the woman found slain at Silver Lake, Wis., was Mrs. Ada Swanson of Joliet, was expressed yesterday by Sheriff Warner H. Blaum, Waukesha, Wis., police chief, who, two weeks ago, told the newspaper that the woman description tallied with that of the murder victim.

KENOSHA, Wis.—(INS)—Raiding speakeasies throughout region, authorities today sought two men believed to have been companions of the red-haired woman whose bruised body was found near Silver Lake Thursday, the victim of a brutal attack.

Identified as the pretty woman who had been seen riding, naked and in a stupor, through Antioch, Ill., with two men a few hours before her body was discovered, she is believed to have been choked to death in defending her honor.

Belief that the murder victim was Mrs. Jeanette Russo, 38, former actress and entertainer, was dispelled today when Mrs. Russo's husband, Philip, viewed the body of the murder victim. He declared the woman was not his wife.

IOWAN SHOT AS A MELON THIEF

Man Will Face Charge Of Trespassing, Officers Say

DES MOINES—(INS)—The condition of William Buss, shot with a 12-gauge shotgun Thursday night while he was suspected of being a melon thief, was reported good this morning.

Buss received more than 150 shot gun pellets in his back when he was fired at by Harry Collins, one of two neighbors aiding in guarding the melon patch of Joseph Fisher here.

Fisher had been victimized by thieves, and after an encounter with a group of the latter Thursday night, enlisted the aid of two neighbors to guard his patch.

Buss came with a group of seven or eight men, according to officers, and neared the melon patch of Past Mitchell, who was captured after a chase. The others escaped.

Boss and Mitchell will face charges of trespass, since there is no evidence to prove they had intended theft. Mitchell, it was said, has been indicted on a charge of criminal assault.

Speakers assured delegates, however, that not all privately owned utility companies are charging excessive rates. Many, it was pointed out, have reduced their rates and others are revising their schedules to give customers the advantage of reduced operating costs.

CHICAGO BOYS ARRESTED, 'HOT' CAR RECOVERED

Quartet Stranded at Wilton Detained By Sheriff

Stranded on highway No. 32 east of Wilton when their funds became exhausted and the car they admitted having stolen ran out of gas, four Chicago youths of tender age were picked up Thursday afternoon by Constable F. S. Abbott of Wilton and brought to the county jail here by Sheriff F. B. Neesper.

Philip Abel, 13, 1529 South Strubell avenue, Chicago, was released to his parents who drove to Milwaukee for him this morning; when his companions said he was not implicated in the theft of the car which was stolen by the other three youths at Roosevelt Road and Independence street, Chicago, Saturday night.

Three Others Held

The others, Abe Schwartz, 14, 1546 South Central Park avenue, who admitted he escaped from a detention home in Chicago last Sunday, Meyer Safrin, 14, 1525 South Central Park avenue, and David Fingerat, 14, 1515 South Central Park avenue, were detained by Sheriff Neesper today awaiting word from Chicago authorities as to their disposition. Ben Safrin, father of the Safrin boy, also came to Muscatine today, but was unable to secure the immediate release of his son.

Because of their youth, the boys were not charged with the offense when the car, a 1929 Ford, became stalled on the highway near Wilton, they told Sheriff Neesper on first questioning that they had purchased the car in Chicago for $5, but later admitted the car had been stolen. Telling their parents that they were going out on all night hickies, the boys left Chicago in the stolen car on Wednesday night. They had no particular destination in view and merely intended to see the country, they said.

Abel's Parents Shocked

Parents of the Abel boy were shocked on learning that their son had been picked up here as they had been making plans to send him to a camp near Chicago for a vacation of two weeks. But the youth apparently had other plans as he admits he stole two checks for $7 and $15 respectively, from his mother's purse before starting on the journey. Finding the checks missing, the boy had stopped payment on them.

While in telephone communication with the Chicago authorities today, Sheriff Neesper learned that the car found in possession of the boys had been reported to the Fillmore street police as having been stolen.

IOWAN SUICIDES IN JAIL HOUSE

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia.—(INS)—Despondent because of his arrest, Lumen Svoboda, 25, prominent young engineer here, committed suicide at four a. m. today after being placed in the city jail on a complaint by a woman that he was骚扰ing about her house.

He used to be a member of Lumen Williams' mob. When he told the young engineer he told him he was enroute to the home of his estranged wife and got on the wrong property. Mrs. Svoboda has filed notice of intention to sue her husband for divorce.

England Labor Government Is Facing Severe Crisis

LONDON—(INS)—With the fate of the labor government hanging in the balance, the opposition by the trades union council to the reduction in socialist expenditures in the cabinet of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald concluded its lengthy setting at 3:45 p. m. today.

No official communiqué was issued, but J. H. Thomas, minister for the docks, told International News Service that the session was finished and that the ministry would not meet again tomorrow or Monday.

The council held a long meeting this morning. Adjourning at luncheon time, it issued a communiqué which contained not one single word endorsing the stand taken by the trades union council to the existing financial difficulties.

"The council's economic committee," the communiqué read, "has been instructed to watch developments with the view of presentation of a full statement to the congress at its meeting in Bristol."

U. S. Actress Found Unconscious in Paris

PARIS—Willette Kershaw, American actress who is directing a company now playing here in "The Well of Loneliness," apparently was gang-robbed in her apartment Tuesday under mysterious circumstances.

The manager of the company and another friend of the actress became alarmed when she failed to appear at a rehearsal and went to her apartment, where they found her lying on the bed, her mouth bound tightly with a gag, and barely breathing.

None of the jewels in the apartment was disturbed, but it was said about $400 had disappeared from her handbag and a window in the apartment, ordinarily left open, was found closed. She was robbed of her purse a minute or two ago.

Total Cost Is Better Than Billion, Says
Wickersham

BY GEORGE E. DURNO
WASHINGTON—(INS)—A crime bill of staggering proportions is used against cities at the expense of the American people, the Wickersham commission reported to President Hoover today in a lengthy brochure entitled "Costs of Crime."

Investigators for the commission tabulated costs totalling a billion and a quarter dollars, but points out this was only a fraction of the whole outlay in supporting the criminal element. They refused to even attempt to estimate the burden in its entirety.

Among the more significant facts developed was that two-thirds of all money the federal government spends on the enforcement of criminal justice is devoted to maintaining the prohibition law.

The government's efforts to maintain law and order last year cost $52,786,202, and $34,828,550 or 65 percent went for prohibition.

Reports made on stream conditions on the upper Cedar river in 1924 and 1927, and a report on the lower Cedar river in 1928, may be used against cities on the expense of the American people, the Wickersham commission reported to President Hoover today in a lengthy brochure entitled "Costs of Crime."

AWAIT MESSAGE FROM AVIATORS

Await Word of Fliers Blazing Mail Route To Copenhagen

COCHRANE, Ont.—(INS)—A radio message was awaiting today from Edwin H. Preston and Robert H. Collingwood, Detroit aviators, attempting to blaze a route for mail to Copenhagen, announcing their arrival at Rupert House, Que. The fliers left here Thursday evening and although unheard of since no alarm was felt as Rupert House was without wire or radio communication.

The distance to Rupert House is about 200 miles from here and it was assumed the fliers made the short hop safely. The Detroit plane carries a radio and word from it was sought this morning.

Arriving here yesterday from Sudbury, the fliers said they expected to complete the flight in two weeks. They are following the trail of Parker Cramer, who was lost at sea in his plane last week.

The fliers said there is no doubt in their minds the route to Europe via Greenland will be more practical for airmail. They claimed that fog along the route they are following was almost unknown.

The Detroit ship is a monoplane and is capable of using any kind of power, oil, gasoline or kerosene.

Governor Murray Willing to Help To Solve Murder

OKLAHOMA CITY—(INS)—Gov. W. H. Murray today expressed his willingness to assist federal officers in their investigation of the death of Joseph Apud, who allegedly shot himself with a gun belonging to Murray, Jr.

"Never mind, I didn't go back, but did come to the Baker hospital for examination, and also treatments which I started just a week before Decoration day. I just had one week's treatment when the sore on my lip, which the doctors pronounced an Epithelioma cancer, came out."

"I also want to mention that I took treatments for hemorrhoids during the time I was having treatments for my lip. I had been a sufferer from hemorrhoids for over eight years and like many other folks who are troubled with the same affliction I didn't go to a doctor because I knew about the only thing they could suggest would be an operation which I would not have."

"I feel so happy to know that I am home today feeling that I am cured of both my afflictions and all the praise I can give the Baker Hospital will not be enough."

IOWA GOVERNOR WANTS HIGHER INCOME TAXES

Gov. Dan W. Turner Gives an Address At Smithland

SMITHLAND, Ia.—(INS)—Strong support of the debenture plan and advocacy of increased income and inheritance taxes were made here today by Governor Dan W. Turner.

Speaking at the 75th anniversary of the celebration of the town's existence, declared that "the most constructive suggestion that has ever been made to stabilize the prices of farm products, to insure the farmer a decent price for his commodities, is the equalization fee or the debenture plan."

"Our congress meets this winter," he said, "instead of milling around on a thousand hair-brained projects they should work out a stabilization plan for farm products—the only suggestion that has ever been made that looks as though it was sound and will get results."

"This is a matter for congress, not for me."

Interest Rates Is Discussed

Interest rates on farm loans was also referred to by the governor as an important federal problem. He lauded the suggestion that the government purchase the bonds of the federal land bank and that national legislation be enacted to put a government guarantee on those bonds.

Governor Turner defended the fact that while the government can borrow more money than at any other time in recent years, the average citizen "has a hard time to borrow money at any rate of interest."

He suggested that the government borrow money at 3 percent and loan it to the farmer at 4 percent. He also suggested that loan interest rates should be lower rather than raise rates of interest in these times. Insurance company rates should be set not higher than 5 percent.

Reduction of government expenditures and spreading of the tax burden were advocated by the chief executive. He stated his belief that the retrenchment program of the administration is a start in the right direction.

Touches On Employment

Turner urged every effort to spread employment as far as possible during the coming months, and that preparations be made to take care of "our citizens who will be without food and shelter."

Progress made by the state engineers and the state committee was pointed out by the governor, who said that preparations are already being made in some of the larger cities of the state to take care of this emergency.

"We cannot allow citizens in this state to go hungry," declared Turner. "It is a severe indictment of organized society that men who are willing to work can not find employment."

"In the development of civilization, in mechanics, in art and in transportation we have seemed to have a requisite amount of intelligence, but in economics we have made but poor advancement," charged Iowa's administrative head.

He pointed out once more the situation of millions of dollars worth of food which cannot be sold on the one hand and millions of starving people on the other.

"To say to these people that Iowa is better off than other states is poor consolation, and it is our duty to meet this great emergency," said Turner.

A really surprising wall closet sets in to the wall with only a small part extending beyond, when the door lets down it forms a small stand with iron rest upon which to place the foot while shining one's shoe. The closet holds all the creams and brushes necessary to keep the shoes of the household in order.

Linen Closet

A perfectly lined closet seen recently had shelves and drawers of varying sizes all finished with glass fronts, so that it is possible to see everything at a glance, from blankets to face cloths.

Woman's Closet

Every woman would sigh with envy at a closet that contained compartments for everything, from shelves with glass fronts for clothing, to others arranged for shoes and hats. The shelves are white with orange finishes the shelves and a large metal hamper of black with a floral motif carries out the color scheme. There is plenty of room for frocks, hats and coats.

Rainbow Girls Enjoy Outing at Moore's Cottage

By ALICE LANGEIER

PARIS (INS) — Suit it! seems to be the smartest slogan for autumn styles. Suits are seen everywhere in all the new winter collections coming out, continuing the popularity of the summer jackets, made warm and cozy by interlinings and fur trim.

They come in all colors in the new soft hairy woolens, jerseys and velvets. The skirts are tight-fitting to the knees, flaring at the bottom, very often of the divided variety. The jackets are usually hip-length and snug.

Angelo is showing a cozy winter suit in deep violet lamé, a color, by the way, which is very much featured for winter. It is relieved by white at the neck with a bunch of white flowers.

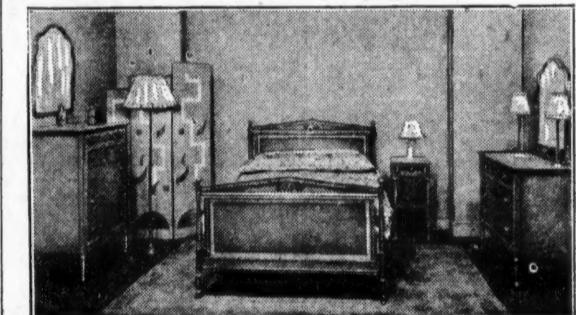

A fuzzy wool suit in green has gloves that are long and full, the tops of them being of the same green wool.

Rainbow girls will be September 5. At that time the election of officers will be conducted.

EXPERT ADVICE ON HOME DECORATION

Lamps That Are Similar, but Not Identical, Give the Room a Harmonious Appearance.

Dear Beth:

I know exactly how you feel about lamps. When we were furnishing our home I insisted on having a lot of lamps, placed where they would do the most good and George insisted I was going to make the whole place look like a lamp display room. There is one way to avoid having that result from the use of many lamps.

Even if the lamps are for different purposes and are in different parts of the room, there can be a certain harmony among them.

Harmony of design in the several lamps used in one room will help to give the room unified appearance which can be obtained if lamps of four or more different sizes are used. I don't mean just alike, Beth, that would be tiresome monotony. But you know it is not pleasing to look at one lamp and see a gracefully turned, curving base and shade, and then look at one across the room and see angular lines and square corners. The stores are selling selected lamps in groups such as could be used in a living room, dining room, or bedroom.

Lamps of half a dozen different materials don't get on so well in

And the sole job that I'm starting in with now is to get all the kiddies' clothes ready for school. It isn't as hard as it sounds, now that I have decided on light weight wool crepe as the ideal fabric for school things, and while I still have plenty of time to add all of the little details that make their things so attractive. And after that, I think, I shall turn my comparatively quiet days into working hours for me, myself and I—for a housewife needs lots more things than house-dresses, doesn't she?"

As We See It

The World Court Again

It now appears that we are to have the world court issue with us again, when congress meets in December. President Green of the American Federation of Labor is the latest man in public life to attempt a revival of interest in the international tribunal.

At the Atlantic City meeting, President Green delivered a stirring appeal to bring this country into the court, agreeing however, that the United States should only go in with such reservations as to assure non-interference by the court in purely domestic questions.

The efforts of President Hoover to bring about the moratorium with Germany pretty clearly demonstrates that the time is not yet ripe for this country to seek entry to the court. The attitude of several European countries, most especially France, is not such as to recommend the court plan to this nation.

A world court, where the differences between nations could be amicably settled without war and its attendant bloodshed, would be an idealistic institution, but, before the United States can subscribe to the plan, the basic selfishness and intense self-seeking of some of the powers will have to be eliminated.

The age-old hatreds existing between various nations and groups of nations are not less potent because veiled under an apparently peaceful relationship. France hates Germany and has seemingly placed every obstacle possible in the path of reconstruction.

Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, has summed up the attitude of France in an address delivered before the National Association of Secretaries of States at Salt Lake.

"I am disgusted with France in her efforts to destroy Germany," said the Utah Senator. "She is demanding her 'pound of flesh' from Germany, and Germany can't pay.

"France was the last of the United States' debtors to agree on a war debt settlement. She held out for weeks on President Hoover's moratorium proposal and took every advantage she could before giving her assent."

It is this attitude of self-seeking that is going to keep the United States out of the world court. Many people in this country have learned to distrust the motives of France and other foreign powers and will continue to oppose closer political relations with them until they demonstrate their sincerity.

The time may come in this world when the peoples of all nations will earnestly desire lasting peace, when the spirit of selfishness, now pervading the earth, will have disappeared. The time may come when people will be willing to forego the pride of citizenship in their fatherland and cheerfully exchange this type of patriotism for world citizenship.

When that time comes, the people of the United States will doubtless fall into line, if not head the procession.

In the meantime, we had best bequeath that problem to our great-great-grandchildren.

Power As An Issue

That the subject of power will be one of the foremost issues in the next presidential campaign seems a settled fact. If the two presidential candidates are Governor Roosevelt of

New York and President Hoover, the power theme will probably be sung loudly and often.

The failure of President Hoover to answer personally the letter recently sent to him by Governor Roosevelt anent negotiations with Canada on the St. Lawrence waterway matter, has been made the occasion of considerable comment. The matter seems to have been cleared up now but it has left in its wake the thought that this is the beginning of the New York governor's march on the White House.

There are few subjects which would make a better issue in 1932 than would the power situation. There are few men who have a better background than Governor Roosevelt for fighting a campaign with power as the issue. He is generally credited with being antagonistic to the so-called power trust.

On the other hand, the farm belt is not going to work itself into any great frenzy over the power question. What the farmers of the middle west have to pay for power is not half so interesting to them as what to use for money to pay with.

During the last campaign religion and booze were used as a camouflage smoke screen. We have a feeling that the great farming communities are not going to be deluded into forgetting their own problems, in 1932, and that the politician seeking farmers' votes is going to be kept pretty close to issues that really concern agriculture.

No Special Session

The announcement that President Hoover does not intend to call a special session of congress this fall, to deal with unemployment or for any other purpose, has been met with varying reception throughout the country.

The progressive element in the senate has been anxious that the president call a special session to deal with the unemployment situation and several other important subjects.

The theory has been that the German moratorium agreement will occupy considerable time—provided congress can find the time to toy with it.

The president probably has this fact well in mind in refusing to call the extra session. The next payment of war debts is due on December 15. If the moratorium agreement is to be effective, it will be necessary for congress to act with a great deal more speed than usual, as the regular session does not convene until December.

It is probable that the German debt moratorium will be promptly approved by congress, if there is no time given for lengthy debates. On the other hand, it is not difficult to picture an extra session devoting untold hours to acrimonious discussion of the whole debt question, if our national legislators are called together in the fall.

The country at large probably feels that congress would accomplish little by meeting ahead of schedule, as far as the unemployment situation or relief legislation is concerned.

Taking it by and large, the president probably knows his congressmen.

Frankie Litch, 10, of Lynn, Mass., is the one boy in the United States who does not object to having his ears washed. He hasn't any.

A man in Seattle was arrested for burglary. He said, "I was just out getting a little fun." He probably meant "funds."

Medical Fallacies

SANITATION MORE EFFECTIVE IN DISEASE PREVENTION THAN PREVENTIVE MEDICINE

In an address over the radio H. B. Anderson, Manager of the Citizen's Medical Reference Bureau said "Sanitation is the science of preventing disease and promoting the public health. In discussing this subject I wish to contrast the benefits derived from sanitary engineering, food inspection and improved living conditions to the disadvantages of the present day man in injecting poisons produced in his body for the alleged purpose of preventing disease. The sanitary engineer on the one hand is busy doing all he can to keep impurities out of the human body whereas the manufacturers of, and those who reap financial returns from, the administration of vaccines and serums are concerned with injecting foreign products into the body."

Groups of health boards trying to negotiate the individual from the cradle to the grave in purely personal matters concerning the child and its parents, or the parents themselves, the health boards should spend more time eradicating filth, supervising housing laws, child-labor laws and all matters to improve living conditions. Sanitary conditions are the prime preventive measures of the present day. In the article "Sanitary Engineering," the author says, "The subject of the article is the result of years of experience and by one who formerly believed in their efficacy.

In spite of the fallacies of preventive medicine and the dangers, to say nothing of the uselessness of such methods, so-called preventive medicine, which means inoculations with serums and vaccines, is the method of treatment recommended by American organized medicine. Health Boards advocate such methods and are behind all campaigns for their use.

Then the Departments of Health will send out warnings that diphtheria will be more prevalent and more dangerous next winter or the year following as a means of frightening the public into having their children inoculated against this disease. This use of the fear appeal is unjust because the Department of Health has no way of determining what the weather and sociological factors influencing mortality from this disease will be. The deathrate from this disease has been going down instead of up and we have just as much reason to believe that conditions will appear as we have to expect an increase.

Pretty soon the Departments of Health will be busy rounding up the boys and girls matriculating the schools in the Fall to have them vaccinated. There has been very little smallpox this past year. The Health Departments of course will say this find record is due to vaccination, but this is only a preventive measure as there are millions of children in different parts of the country who have never been vaccinated and who have never contracted this disease.

Just Kiddies

By T. W. Burgess

PADDY THE BEAVER SEES STRANGE THINGS

Paddy the Beaver sees other people a great deal oftener than they see him. Paddy is one of those who believe in seeing, but remaining himself unseen. There isn't much that goes on around that little pond which he himself made deep in the Green Forest of which Paddy doesn't know. It is one of the advantages of living in the safest most of the time that you can disappear anywhere, and no one on shore knows where you have gone. At least you can if you can swim like Paddy the Beaver or his cousin, Jerry Muskrat, or Billy Mink, or little Joe Otter. All you have to do is to dive and then swim under water to some place you can watch all that goes on. Simple, isn't it?

On this particular day, the very day when Buster Bear found the storehouse of Busy Bee and Farmer Brown's Boy discovered both, Paddy the Beaver had spent most of the time sleeping in his house out in the sun. You see, his house is dark and cool and comfortable, while outside the sun was very bright and hurt Paddy's eyes, which are not very strong. The air was hot and even the water was warm, warmer than Paddy liked. He much prefers to be abroad at night anyway. So inside his house Paddy dozed and was very comfortable and was sorry for his neighbors who had no such cool place to go to on a hot day. Once in a while he would go out just to see that all was well or to pass the time of day with Mr. or Mrs. Quack.

It was on one of these occasions that Paddy's keen ears heard just the faintest sound in the Green Forest. He was among some rushes which grew on one side of his pond, a favorite retreat of the Quack family. Mr. Quack heard it too. "Some one is coming," he whispered, and with a low quack wakened all the young Quacks, for they were taking a nap. Instantly their heads popped out from under their tails and with their front paws stretched up they sat perfectly still listening. Paddy waded to the edge of the rushes, where with only his head out of water he could see and hear all that was going on.

The noise grew louder. Whoever was coming was not trying to steal up to the pond silently, and this was a good sign. No one who wanted to harm them ever would approach so noisily. Nearest came the noise, and it was quite clear to Paddy that it was a human. Presently Paddy saw something moving among the trees on the other side of the pond, and in a minute out stepped Farmer Brown's Boy. At the edge of the pond he stopped and scooped up a handful of soft, wet mud.

"What can he want of that?" thought Paddy. Then his eyes grew round with wonder. Farmer Brown's Boy was plastering black wet mud on his nose and his forehead and the back of his neck just on one of his hands! Then he signed, and so still was it there around Paddy's pond that sight could be heard over where Paddy was.

Paddy wasn't sure, but it sounded to him very much like a sign of relief. Then Farmer Brown's Boy sat down in the shade of a tree half hidden by an old stump and once more it was as still as if there were no living being around Paddy's pond.

But it wasn't still very long. A twig snapped over in the Green Forest where he had built his den. Some one else was coming, and wasn't trying to walk softly. Paddy looked at Mr. Quack and Mr. Quack looked at Paddy, and both fixed their gaze on the place from which the noise was drawing near. Out on the shore of the pond walked Buster Bear. And such a sight as he was! Bits of bark and twigs and dead leaves and plain dirt stuck all over him. He was a sight! He surely was a sight! He was grimy and dirty. For just a minute he sat up and looked all over Paddy's pond. He wrinkled his nose as if trying to test the air for any strong smells, and then blew sharply in disgust. He couldn't smell anything but honey. Then he dropped to all fours again and walked across Paddy's dam and along the shore until he came to a certain place where there was a

Give It a Thought

By Joseph A. Sadony

Most "wise men" have learned so that they fail to believe one thing thoroughly. They divide their intuitive faith by so much unstable reason. That they fail to believe anything well.

They have acquired so many shades of color

That they have lost their identity. So that the common man fails to understand their language. The "wise men" cut up their loaf of bread into crumbs.

In trying to explain to the masses:

When the loaf is better understood in its entirety.

The wise man criticizes what the humble man expects to believe, And thus man learns the alphabet and figures by heart. But refuses to make sentences to solve the secrets of the ages, Or to use figures to measure immensity.

A man of cold scientific facts Uses one side of his slate for problems self-evident; The other side to record the results of his conclusions.

The true philosopher uses one side to remember a cause. Long enough for an effect; Then records on the other side what Nature does.

For he feels that there is no necessity for his opinion. When the law speaks.

Germany will be sounded out on the matter at once, it is understood. Just what her needs are in the matter of duck feathers is not definitely known, but it seems possible that there is nothing she needs less in this regard.

The appeal to the State Department, which came from Long Island feather magnates, also for a special session and suggested that possibly Uncle Sam would arrange to have Germany absorb some of our American feathers, as she agreed to do with wheat.

Germany will be sounded out on the matter at once, it is understood. Just what her needs are in the matter of duck feathers is not definitely known, but it seems possible that there is nothing she needs less in this regard.

The wise man criticizes what the humble man expects to believe, And thus man learns the alphabet and figures by heart. But refuses to make sentences to solve the secrets of the ages, Or to use figures to measure immensity.

A man of cold scientific facts Uses one side of his slate for problems self-evident; The other side to record the results of his conclusions.

For he feels that there is no necessity for his opinion. When the law speaks.

At this point Mr. Wonk was interrupted and saddened by a telegram, which he opened and read, tearfully.

"Huh! There's a crisis in another feather industry," he blurted. "What kind of feathers now?" asked the reporter.

"Horse feathers," replied Mr. Wonk, his great frame shaking.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE DUCK FEATHER CRISIS

Now it's a Duck Feather Crisis! Just as many people have suspected right along, one of the things with the United States is that it is too full of duck feathers:

"What does the average man know about the feather situation? Nothing. Therefore how can we expect him to be concerned?"

Getting no answer, Mr. Wonk continued: "Of course it might be a good idea to request Mr. Hoover to appoint a Federal Feather Board at once, but I doubt that the feather men would react to that. The board would probably suggest that the feather magnates destroy every third feather of the 1931 crop, and this would involve an immense amount of detail."

"No," continued Mr. Wonk, "I think we must adopt other tactics. First, we must make the average man realize the feather crisis. Then appeal to every man, woman and child to go out and buy a duck feather.

"A National Duck Feather Day might do the trick. Or we might have feather fairs instead of parades for the next Mother's Day. Still again, some relief might be gained by having the President proclaim it every citizen's duty to wear a duck feather vest."

At this point Mr. Wonk was interrupted and saddened by a telegram, which he opened and read, tearfully.

"Huh! There's a crisis in another feather industry," he blurted. "What kind of feathers now?" asked the reporter.

"Horse feathers," replied Mr. Wonk, his great frame shaking.

CORUM THINKS MCCLARNIN FANS DISAPPOINTED

Irishman Socks Like
Joe Sewell Instead Of Babe Ruth

By BILL CORUM
(INS Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—Prize fights do not like or win, and young blondes grow on one. The first Jimmy McLarnin-Billy Petrolle prize fight, held in Madison Square Garden, was a daisy-don. In this one Petrolle knocked McLarnin loose from his brogue, and sent the customers away jibbering in the darkness.

The second McLarnin-Petrolle fight, also held in Madison Square Garden, was only slightly daisy, and the customers went home wondering what the world was going to say about their staying out so late. McLarnin won it.

The third and rubber McLarnin-Petrolle fight, held last evening in Colonel Jake Ruppert's spacious Yankee stadium, was just another fight and the customers went home early. But McLarnin won it on points at the end of ten rounds.

Easy On Express

Indeed, it looked as though the sturdy little Irisher, had he been so minded, might have derailed the old Fargo Express and left him for the wrecking crew. Jim fought the last four rounds as if he realized the express train had no stop to make in this, his final pugilistic run.

To put it more plainly, it looked as though McLarnin could have stiffened William in any one of the closing chapters had he gone out grimly intent on stiffening him. But fighting is a commercial enterprise, operated and engaged in by commercially-minded folks, and the sparse crowd that sat in last evening had no real grounds for complaint.

It saw James the brat make a sharp, heady fight—the kind with which he can best Petrolle 99 times out of 100—and it saw the game old loser, his face a scarlet smear, continue to wade in whaling away until the Hornsby method of thinking.

Quinn Hails Rally

Then in the ninth the Cubbs had won three men on base and Jack Quinn, well past forty, out-hit, out-maneuvered and out-fought his lighter opponent and won thereafter as he chose. Petrolle was outweighed, and besides he was up against a better man than he is. Uncle Jim.

Throughout the entire affair he斗ed with calm and decisiveness, and at the finish, save for the cheering of some free statesmen seated in pews A and B, scarcely a sigh ripples the silence of the big yard.

I think even McLarnin's staunchest admirers were just a whit disappointed in the spilt of the smooth fight he made. They had come to see him hit like Babe Ruth, and instead found him hitting like Joey Sewell. To continue the baseball metaphor, James pushed William over the heads of the infield on several occasions, but at no time did he belt him into the bleachers.

CHICAGO CUBS ARE SOUR, LOSE TO ROBINS, 4-1

Rogers Hornsby's Way
Of Thinking No
Good to Bruins

By COPELAND C. BURG
(INS Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—Rogers Hornsby and his Chicago Cubs should have given up all hope of winning the national league pennant some time ago. Their ambitions today may have to stop at the end of the first division.

They looked rather sour yesterday as they fell defeated before the crippled and ailing Brooklyn Robins, 4 to 1, with the masterminding of Hornsby something as far removed from genui as Al Capone is from Herr Einstein.

With two men on base in the eighth inning, Hornsby had the gall to order Pitts Root to pass him to the right field. Left off, the hefty stickler, Babe Herman, next man up, Herman merely doubled into the sector over svelte Hack Wilson, and with Bissontone singling to score Herman, the Robins got four runs out of the Hornsby method of thinking.

It was James the brat make a sharp, heady fight—the kind with which he can best Petrolle 99 times out of 100—and it saw the game old loser, his face a scarlet smear, continue to wade in whaling away until the Hornsby method of thinking.

Fight All Green

After the first three or four rounds the fight was all green. The Irish boy out boxed, out-hit, out-maneuvered and out-fought his lighter opponent and won thereafter as he chose. Petrolle was outweighed, and besides he was up against a better man than he is. Uncle Jim.

Throughout the entire affair he斗ed with calm and decisiveness, and at the finish, save for the cheering of some free statesmen seated in pews A and B, scarcely a sigh ripples the silence of the big yard.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

by John Hix

Although Harry Martin has been shipwrecked 24 times and each time he has still survived, he is still ill at ease on land and craves nothing more than to roam the open seas. However, he has become such a well-known jinx among seafarers that few ships will allow him on board.

Martin entered his first ship via the wheat chute while the boat was being loaded. See how he kept it from sinking?" Trapped in the vessel, he was not found until the ship was well at sea. That was his first voyage and although the boat reached port safely it was completely wrecked a few years later when Martin happened to be aboard.

Time and time again during the three years he has roamed the world this "jinx of the sea" has been wrecked only to escape death and start all over again. He has been adrift in the open sea for days at a time, in fires, in boats that were torpedoed, in every imaginable disaster of the ocean, yet he still lives and still sails.

Jake Kilrain and Jem Smith put on one of the greatest bare knuckle battles the world of pugilism has ever witnessed. They fought for hours, 31 minutes and in that time Smith was knocked down no less than 36 times. The fight was stopped in the 16th round and, despite Smith's poor showing, was called a draw.

GRAIN PRICES CLOSE STEADY IN WHEAT PIT

Late Trade Features By Fairly Heavy Liquidation

CHICAGO—(INS)—Grains closed steady to easy on the Chicago board of trade today after ruling early in the session.

Final prices for wheat were 1/4 to 3/4 lower, corn 1/4 to 1/2 lower and oats 1/4 up to 1/2 down. Rye was 1/4 higher to 3/4 lower.

Late trade was featured by fairly heavy liquidation in September, which ranged from 40¢ to 45¢ a bushel, a new low on the crop. The reaction in corn and weakness in securities influenced considerable selling in practically all the pits.

Reports from Washington that the federal farm board had reached an agreement with the Brazilian government by which a quantity of surplus Brazilian wheat will be delivered that government in exchange for coffee influenced considerable buying in wheat early.

Wheat futures were around 1/4 higher at the start under scattered buying which found offerings moderate. Firmness in Liverpool and continued unfavorable wet weather in northern Europe were factors in the rise here. On the upturn September futures with some pressure from longs and reacted around the previous closing level. Other futures, however, held firm during most of the forenoon.

Liverpool was 3/4 to 1/2 higher and Winnipeg 1/4 to 3/4 up.

Corn was firm early in sympathy with the leading cereal. Trade was only moderate. Beneficial rains were reported over sections of the Ohio Valley. Cash demand continues fair and country offerings moderate.

Oats and rye worked slightly higher.

Estimated cariot receipts were: wheat 224, corn 55 and oats 26.

THE BALLOT BOX

Will Tell The Tale Saturday

The Road Ahead May Be Strewn With Barriers, But These Will Be of Slight Consequence to Those Who Go Steadily Onward and Out Into the "Land Where Happiness Lies"

With the final hour, 10 o'clock Saturday night, emblazoned on their minds, stirring scenes are being enacted by candidates in the Midwest Free Press automobile and gold campaign, now swiftly drawing to a close. Aroused to unprecedented opportunities of winning a beautiful motor car or a big cash prize, every passing hour is instilling new energy into ambitious workers. Everywhere they are swarming in eager, anxious quest for subscriptions that will win for them the big votes—and in the end, an automobile or big cash award. These workers pay no attention to frequent rumors that circulate with hope of damaging effect. Misleading stories have but one object—influencing some candidate to retire for fear of being passed by someone else in the race. Such tales have no foundation whatever. It is obvious that no one can determine the ultimate result of the campaign. Courage and downright hustle are the two main things to observe. Votes are the only things that will win the prizes, and every candidate should—and for that matter, is—taking upon himself or herself to annex just as many votes as possible between now and the close.
